

Jaime L. Bieber, MS, OTR/L, CHT

Occupational Therapist/Certified Hand Therapist

Jaime began her career working for a private practice in her home state of Michigan in 2005 but then relocated back to New England after a 2 year stint in Home Care and Outpatient Hand therapy. She joined the rehab team at Exeter Hospital in 2007 and has been an active member on the hospital's Clinical Research Council until 2014. She took over supervising the education program for Rehab Services working with Universities and Colleges across the country coordinating internships for students in physical, occupational therapy, and speech language pathology programs. Outside of the clinic, Jaime enjoys anything to do with the outdoors, taking advantage of the many recreational opportunities that New England has to offer. When not leading an active lifestyle, she volunteers her time supporting local community events like NH Special Olympics.

Education            2004 BS Occupational Therapy from University of New Hampshire
                          2005 MS Occupational Therapy form University of New Hampshire

Specialties            2007 Physical Agent Modalities Certification
                          2009 Graston Technique Certification
                          2011 Certification in Hand Therapy (CHT)
                          2014 Student Clinical Coordinator Rehab Services (CCCE)
                          2017 Integrative Dry Needling