

Erin Fairhurst, M.S. CCC-SLP

Speech and Language Pathologist

Erin is a speech language pathologist (SLP) who joined the Exeter Hospital team in 2019. She specializes in working with the adult population, including those with neurological speech and language impairments, dysphagia, and voice and other laryngeal disorders. Erin holds a Certificate of Clinical Competence through the American Speech Language Hearing Association (ASHA), and she participates in two ASHA special interest groups, including (1) voice and upper airway disorders and (2) neurogenic communication disorders. In her free time, Erin enjoys spending time with her family and exploring the great outdoors.

- Education
- Gettysburg College, B.A., Psychology with Spanish minor
 - University of New Hampshire, M.S., Communication Sciences and Disorders
- Specialties
- Certified Lee Silverman Voice Therapy (LSVT LOUD) Clinician
 - Registered MBS Impairment Profile Clinician
 - Certified VitalStim Clinician