Please note that Exeter Hospital maintains an inpatient directory and that, unless you object, we may include certain limited protected health information about you in our inpatient directory during your admission or stay at Exeter Hospital to assist family, friends, and visitors in finding you and learning about your general condition or to provide such information to members of the clergy. This information includes your name, your location in the Hospital, your condition described in general terms (such as stable or fair), and your religious affiliation. The information in the facility directory, except for your religious affiliation, may be released to anyone who asks for you by name. Unless you object, your religious affiliation may be given to a member of the clergy, even if he or she doesn't ask for you by name so that he or she may visit you during your stay in the Hospital.

Please note, as well, that, unless you object, we may use or disclose your protected health information to a public or private entity authorized by law or by its charter to assist in disaster relief efforts for the purpose of coordinating those efforts.

Under New Hampshire law, the identity of a person tested for the human immunodeficiency virus ("HIV") may be disclosed in response to a written request only if such person has given written authorization for the disclosure; however, a physician or other health care provider may disclose information pertaining to the identity and test results of a person tested for HIV to other physicians and health care providers directly involved in the health care of the person when the disclosure is necessary in order to protect the health of the person tested. Also under New Hampshire law, written consent is required for disclosures regarding genetic testing and genetic test results, except for disclosures by appropriate professionals within a physician's medical practice or hospital.

Our Responsibilities

- We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your protected health information.
- We will let you know promptly if a breach occurs that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information.
- We must follow the duties and privacy practices described in this notice and give you a copy of it.
- We will not use or share your information other than as described here unless you tell us we can in writing. If you tell us we can, you may change your mind at any time. Let us know in writing if you change your mind.
